SPiRiT OF CINCO

The Rallo family may have moved away from their native Mexico, but distance has never kept them from celebrating their traditions in San Francisco. On Cinco de Mayo, Sylvia and Eduardo, above, at left, keep things colorful and casual at their home, where they welcome guests for an afternoon of fun, games, and margaritas. Friends never forget which glass is theirs, because the Rallos use a zester to mark each drink's lime with guests' initials, left.
