

New York, NY
March 24, 2008
Circulation: 693,382

NEW YORK'S HOMETOWN CONNECTION

WWW.NYDAILYNEWS.COM

DAILY NEWS

Another "Juno" comes to City Center Thursday.

Perfect 10

This week's news & to-do's

MONDAY

THE HILLS ARE ALIVE Lauren, Heidi, Spencer and Audrina are back on the small screen for more backstabbing. Everyone's been busy since last season. Lauren showed her clothing line. Heidi imitated a music career. Audrina had her very own nude pictures scandal. Time to get back to what they do best: pretend reality TV. ("The Hills," MTV, 10 p.m.)

BORO-WIDE BARGAINS Brooklyn Restaurant Week kicks off eight days of deals. The borough hosts $23 prix fixe dinners at 175 restaurants, so it's time to explore. ("Brooklyn Dine-in," schedule at visitbrooklyn.org, through March 31)

TUESDAY

BOOK YOUR REVENGE Lisa Daily hosts the launch of her novel "Fifteen Minutes of Shame," about a romance expert humiliated by her cheating husband/publicist. Hmm, seems topical. Plus, buy the book and you get a free margarita from Partida Tequila. (7-9 p.m., Agave, 140 Seventh Ave. South, 212-989-2100)

DISCO DISMAY Panic at the Disco releases their new album, which might be named after the audience reaction to the band's music videos. "Pretty, Odd." hits stores with plenty of '60s pop inspiration. ($18.98)

ENERGY DRINK Need a lure to get you to the gym? Check out Project H Fitness' Martini Workout class, which combines pilates moves and balancing (plastic) barware. Afterward, the juice bar serves Gray Goose martinis with cucumber or blueberry garnishes. (7-8 p.m., 222 E. 34th St., 212-779-1056, clubhfitness.com)

On Monday, Whitney and pals head for "The Hills."

WEDNESDAY

DESIGN DUEL Aspiring artists can submit jewelry, fashion or home ware designs to Fred Flare's annual Next Big Thing competition. The 27 finalists will make it to the special online boutique, and one will win $1,000. (All details at fredflare.com; enter before May 2.)

THURSDAY

DRAMA DO-OVER City Centre Encores! weekend of "Juno" - Page one. Victoria Clark stars Irish matriarch struggling to together in the face of war. (Full schedule and tickets at www.citycenter.org)

FRIDAY

DRINK 'EM DRY Divine Bar E doors this weekend, and has Saturday night to get rid of it & $6 wines are part of our Liquids" eve! St., 212-319-9466; Saturday)

SATI

COZY SHOWMA audience member "Chamber Magic" from being able to baffling slight-of-shows run Friday nights at the Warehouse. ($60, 7 and 9, info and tickets at chambermagic.com)

PASTA PRIMER Italian chef Fabio Trabocchi of Fiamma is ready to reveal his kitchen secrets. He offers the first of his monthly cooking classes, an introduction to pasta and risotto dishes. Two-hour classes are followed by a big feed. ($100, or $250 for series of three, 11 a.m., reservation info at fiammarestaurant.com or call Nicole Fisher at 212-331-0316 during business hours)

Patrick Huqenin

TUESDAY

BOOK YOUR REVENGE

Lisa Daily hosts the launch of her novel "Fifteen Minutes of Shame," about a romance expert humiliated by her cheating husband/publicist. Hmm, seems topical. Plus, buy the book and you get a free margarita from Partida Tequila. (7-9 p.m., Agave, 140 Seventh Ave. South, 212-989-2100)