Partida's agave nectar

Summer-time cocktails, margaritas especially, often get their flavor from spoonfuls of sugar. But what if there was a more natural, healthier and better-tasting way to make those drinks go down easier? Enter Partida's organic agave nectar, made from the very same blue agave plant as the company's line of high-end tequilas. It's sweeter than sugar but has far fewer calories. At $3 a bottle, there really can't be anything sweeter.
